

Magazine Portraits

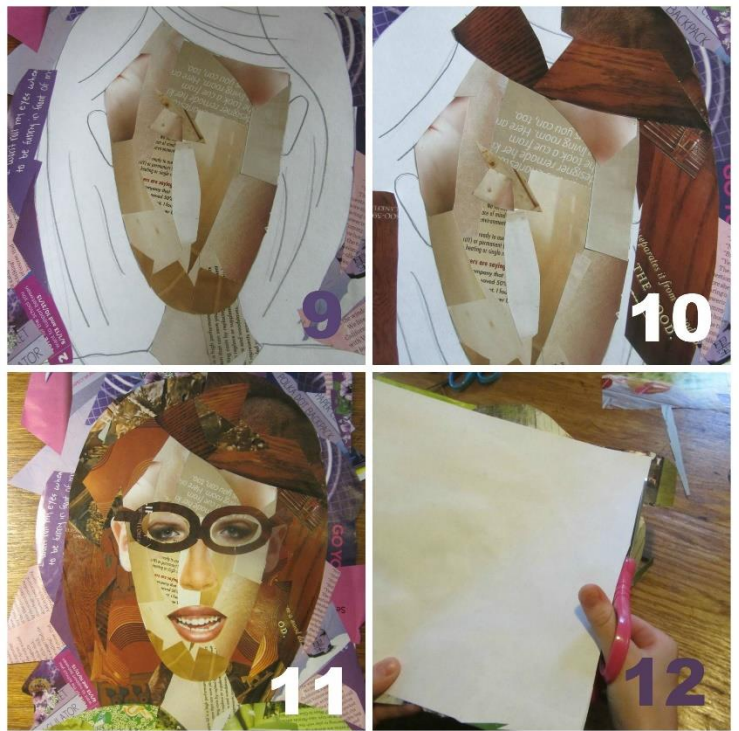

Directions: With your parents' permission, go through magazines and find facial features and skin tones and cut them out. Put them back together to create a new portrait. You can make a self-portrait (a picture of yourself), a portrait of a family member, or a new/imaginary person. Option 1: Start by drawing an oval for the head, color in the skin and then add the facial features. Option 2: Start with a sketch, then create the entire portrait from the cut pieces of magazines.
